

Eric has been a Special Agent with the Wisconsin Department of Justice/ Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI) for 23 years, currently assigned to the state's Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force in Milwaukee. Eric's law enforcement experience also includes undercover murder-for-hire, homicide, cold-case homicides, tracking fugitives, and drug enforcement. He was awarded the Wisconsin Attorney General Law Enforcement Officer of the Year Award in October of 2014.

For more than 15 years, with the beginning of online child exploitation confronting our country, Eric has earned a reputation as one of the top officers in the nation in apprehending sexual predators of children who use the Internet and/or cell phones to seduce or exploit children. He has been responsible for the arrest of approximately 200 men from Wisconsin and around the country, many of whom traveled various distances to have sex with what they believed to be an underage boy or girl. Eric's arrests also include those who sexually assault children, distribute, possess, and/or produce child pornography, expose children to harmful materials, or engage in child sex trafficking.

Eric's dynamic presentations on Internet and cell phone exploitation of children have been seen by more than a quarter-of-a-million people in Wisconsin and the U.S. Audiences include parents, middle school and high school students, police officers, detectives, prosecutors, judges, child welfare advocates, correctional and social workers, civic groups, business professionals, doctors, and countless other groups dedicated to helping children.

He has been a guest on the Tyra Banks Show in Los Angeles, and CNN Tonight in New York City. Eric has also appeared on "Living Our Faith" with Milwaukee Archbishop Timothy Dolan (currently Cardinal of New York), and has been interviewed by countless newspapers, radio and television stations across Wisconsin and the Midwest. Some of Eric's cases have been featured in national media outlets including Cold Case Files with Bill Kurtis, People Magazine, and MSNBC Investigates. Television news reporters have won and/or been nominated for top journalism awards for stories in which Eric was a significant contributor.

Eric's presentations inspired the drafting and passage of new legislation in 2006, Wisconsin Assembly Bill 942. This law significantly increased the levels of felonies for online child exploitation, increased maximum prison penalties, and implemented presumptive minimum prison terms for online predators. Eric has also testified in court as an expert in the online sexual exploitation of children, and has provided assistance to dozens of law enforcement agencies in this area of police work. Since 2010, he has organized and coordinated the first-week long schools for WI DOJ to train Wisconsin police officers in the investigation of online child exploitation. In 2011, he was named the Deputy Commander of the WI Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force.

Eric's work has been recognized by many organizations, including the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, the United States Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of Wisconsin, the Wisconsin Department of Justice, and the Wisconsin Association of Homicide Investigators.
